5 Ways Employers Can Support WORKING PARENTS

THE

Advice from Pandemic Parenting Podcast guest Christine Robinson

(Ep. 9: How Parents & Employers Can Navigate the Post-Pandemic Workplace)

Provide access to resources for parents such as Care.com
for child care and Out School
for virtual learning

Ľ

Send back-to-school kits for parents with school-age children

Allow flexible work arrangements: Let parents work "when they need to and how they need to" — no approval needed

Offer Disconnect Days, when the office is closed and employees can truly shut down and disconnect from work

Demonstrate accepting and welcoming behavior for employees with children that includes leadership, too!

